Winery of the month:

Journey's End

Journey's End is a boutique vineyard and winery located in the picturesque Stellenbosch region, outside of Cape Town, in South Africa.

Owned by the Gabb family since 1995 they produce around 6,000 dozen bottles of award winning, high quality wine per year and enjoy stunning views over False Bay, Cape Point and beyond.

Roger Gabb discovered the Vineyard in 1995. The Gabb family purchased the farm and the original 20 hectares and started from scratch including building a house, installing water and reviving the derelict vines: it has been a real labour of love. The vines were replanted in 1996 and 1998 and these same vines remain today producing the exceptional fruit used to make the award winning wines from Chardonnay, Shiraz, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot.

Sauvignon Blanc was planted in 2008 and further planting this year includes Viognier, Semillon, Petit Verdot and Mourvedre.

Journey's End Wines have won a large number of Gold and Silver awards and trophies including Decanter Wine of the Month in June 2009.
